Conestoga student, 53 enjoys the challenge

By Jim Ivers

Looking through a windowed screen, a small, unadorned woman, her hair pulled back in a bun, looks at the camera with a calm, steady gaze. She is Grace Juhl, 53, a student at Conestoga Community College in Allentown, Pa.

"I like to have my mind challenged."

She is a woman who has spent the last 10 years of her life in a classroom, and she is now a student at Conestoga Community College in Allentown, Pa.

GEORGE HAS A DEGREE IN MARINE BIOLOGY AND A JOB DRIVING A CAB.

Scientists and technology graduates like George are too valuable to waste. These are the people, young and enthusiastic, who could be helped us to shape tomorrow. These are minds, fresh and creative, that could be involved in research and development and in its applications to urgent energy and environmental problems; and to the task of making Canadian industry more efficient and competitive.

We can't afford to wait.
Private sector companies, individuals, associations, research institutes and community organizations can help by developing projects that will contribute to Canada's future and at the same time but qualified people to work in the disciplines they're trained to follow. The Canadian government is ready to help by cost sharing up to $1 250 a month (for a maximum of 12 months) towards the salaries of university community college and technical school graduates with the qualifications to justify (most private) graduate work haven't until now been able to find employment in their disciplines.
